CHIROPRACTIC

Respect! Is this something important for you to receive from your doctor? Several years ago, a survey taken from thousands of patients throughout the country said that it was. In fact... they said that it was one of the MOST IMPORTANT THINGS to get from a doctor. The survey also went on to say that the best way doctors show respect for their patients is by being willing to educate them. Educating his patients is what chiropractor Dr. Jake Grinaker is all about. Dr. Grinaker says, "One of the best ways that we as doctors can earn our patient's trust and show them respect, is to educate them, give them the tools for better health, and an understanding of exactly why we do - what we do, and why it works so well."

Besides treating neck and back pain, Dr. Grinaker also sees many other conditions including headaches, shoulder and knee pain, carpal tunnel, sports injuries, work injuries and injuries from car accidents. "I think it's important for people to know that if they're in pain... we will see them today." Besides treating patients who are in pain... Dr. Grinaker has spent many additional hours studying the wellness side of health, which means his goal is not only to help patients feel better... his goal is to keep them feeling good once they get there.
